After a long summer vacation, the several courts of Bedford county convened on Monday, the 21st day of Sertember, at 1:30 p. m.

Owing to the indisposition of Judge Balley, the courts were presided over by Judge J.W Shull, president judge, of New Bloomfield, Perry county, assisted by Assac ate Judges Conley & d Eichelberger. Judge Shull, although this is his first visit to our county, has Widew's inventory and appraisement made many friends, the attorneys, as well as the jurors, visitors and wit nesses, being most favorably impressed by him ability and by the quickness with which he despatched the business of the courts.

The affectionate regard in which Judge Bailey is held by our people, both professional and laymen, was guardian of minor children was authormanifested by the interest and concern | ized to sell their interest in the real in his welfare excited by his absence Ev ry one wanted to know why Judge Bailey was not in his usual chair and their interests. Widow's inventory when told of his illness expressed the most cordial wishes for his speedy re-COVETY.

The roll of grand jurous being called, it was shown that a full panel-twenty four-was in attendance, whereupon, for divers good and sufficient reasons, the following named grand jurors were excused from futher attendance, to wit: George Bush, Edmund Shaffer, J. MANN's CHOICE. September 22 .- Just a short distance west of the center of Bedford county is located the beautiful little borough of Mann's Choice. It was christened in 1840, when our county was represented in congress by the Hon. Job Mann, of Bedford. The citi zens of Harrison township petitioning at that time for a postoffice at the foot of Dry Ridge, some trouble and time in the matter of the choice of a name resulted. The postmaster general said: Lat it be Mann's Choice, in honor of the representative, and so it has been ever since.

tractions, its health giving water and the refinement of charater of its population. The town has been steadily growing; since 1840 it has increased in population about 400, at that time there being but three houses here. We have a few things to say in reference to the town-not in a boastful spirit, but as a statement of facts. The common schools of Mann's Choice are graded so as to give the best advant-

This hostelry is the equal of any hotel in the county for its architecture, bath rooms. barber shop, not and cold water supply The table is supplied with the best that the market affords and is prepared with especial care for the people who eat good grub.

At present the only railroad we have is the Bedford division of the P. R. R. but every thing surely indicates that we shall have a better railroad connection during the year 1904, the B. O. having purchased 80 acres of ground here. We have it from good authority that the B. & O. will connect here with the P. R. R. and upon it depends the Bedford and Hollidaysburg road, so, to us, it means a junction of three railroads. Does this say much for the town? I think it does. When we take into consideration the different water courses running through or near our town and the different springs we find we have an abundance of water for power for shops and manufactories of every kind.

Thomas Gore, a prominent citizen of Johnstown, died on Sunday. The deceased was born at Mann's Choice. April 14, 1817, and was a son of John and Catherine Mowry Gore. His father was a Virginian and died in 1873. Mrs. Gore died in October, 1880. On September 28, 1848, he was married to Miss Amauda Jane Mitchell, daughter of James H. and Sophronia Thatcher Mitchell, her father having been a leading citizen of Johnstown many vears ago. Eight children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Gore-Sophronis C., wife of J. W. Barnett, of Hillside; James H., deceased: Amanda J., widow of Dr. J E. Hutchinson, at home; John

In 1827 his parents moved from Bedford county to Blairsville, where he assisted in building the Pennsylvania canal, which was then in the course of construction. In 1847 Mr Gore built the section boat "General Scott" and other boats and navigated them between Pittsburg and Philadelphia. After leaving the canal he became a contractor and helped to build the Old Portage railroad between Johnstown and Hollidaysburg, and for seven years was conductor on that road. WASHINGTON, September 22.-The lightning in the postoffice departmen investigation is beginning to strike about in places close to the throne Beavers, who has given himself up voluntarily after the police seemed to b unable to get him, has had Postmaster General Payne subjected to appear at s witness in his case, and the P. M G promptly repudiates the subposes and refuses to appear. He says he is sich and must perforce spend a few weeks down at Virginia Hot Springs to recuperate his health. He probably knows too much of the doings of his private accretary, H. H. Rand, in con ocction with Beavers and Machen's in dustry in the grafting game in the posteffice department and does not desire to be questioned under oath. In fact, he is doing all in his power to s'op the publicity of details of the postoffice department scandal, and now e gives it out that the end is in sight and that there will be nothing more doing after the first of October. He knows full well that there are to: many members of congress and Republican leaders mixed up in the mat ter who must protect the looters, and some of them too much dread an inves will sing unto the Lord, because He tigation to allow the matter to proceed further. Such a competent machine politiciar as the P. G. M. knows that the Republican party cannot recelve any more such hard knocks as it has received by even a small part of the scandal thus exposed to public view, and survive the treatment. How the Republican party leaders are praying that something will turn up to distract the minds of the public from this nasty mess. See how the Beirut incident was seized upon to take the minds of the people from the scandals cropping out in the administration o' the affairs of government. The Panams canal affair is also being used to get the minds of the people from the rottenness of the departments as administered by the Republican party, out all in vain. Those little incidents are but the wonder of an hour and the minds of the people wander back to their muttons, the scandals in the departments at Washington, Like strengthen thine heart; wait, I say, on | Banquo's ghost, they will not down, but return with perplexing persistency to plague an administration that is rotten to the core. The people have a specific for this cancer on the body politic if they will go to the polls and adminis-

The trusts are still in the saddle.

The anthracite coal trust is advancing the price of coal again, though it is re ported to have mined and stored some millions of tons more than can be sold this year, and yet this trust has such a monopoly that it can put up prices as it pleases. The meat trust also files notice that it intends to raise the price of its products to a level more in accord with the times and permissive of the garnering of larger profits. Congress, last winter, when the coal trust was live issue, appropriated a special fund of skon one for the department of justice to use to prosecute trusts. Con Lord God, that I may declare all Thy gress also provided for a number of as sistant attorneys general to prepare cases against the trusts. Many months have elapsed since this money and those attorneys were placed at the disposal of the administration, but no action has been begun. There is on file with the attorney general more who made heaven and earth. Let than one case against trusts, prepared us redemption. And He shall William R. Hearst and the case against the tobacco trust has been on file for over two years, but it has reposed in a pigeon-hole in the department, and even the extra money and extra help have been unable to drag it into court

There seems to be nothing that can stop this insatiable greed of bloated trusts, except business depression That, with its resultant reduction ir the people's purchasing power, will prove the only effective means to bring prices down again to a reasonable limit, so long as the Republican party remains in the saddle. So far as legislatures and courts are concerned. they are, apparently, unable or upwilling to do anything to protect the consumers. Anti-trust laws passed by the law-givers are, as a rule, promptly protect what they consider the constitutional rights of corporations. Did you ever hear of the constitutional rights of an individual? Never in your life. Some months ago newspapers were full of statements to the fifty cent package of this medicine at half effect that the federal government wouldn't do a thing to the pernicious, rapacious coal trust after William Randolph Hearst had put it in a hole

Pennsylvania-Penn's Wood-and its formal history dates from that time. Penn had his attention drawn to America by his service as trustee for Edward Byllings, who bought West Jersey from Lord Berkeley and Sir leorge Carteret. He purposed to nake Pennsylvania a refuge and asylum for Friends. Within the limitstions of a proprietorship subject to the king, he projected a real democracy in which there should be absolute freedom of conscience and religion. The constitution he drafted was more liberal than any previously promulgated It attracted to the colony high-minded lissenters of various sects, who ulti nately outnumbered the Friends, and misused the freedom granted them to persecute the founders of the colony The Quaker experiment in government asted until 1756; the influence of the

Nearly all the immigrants were earnest, Godfearing men, some of them well educa ted and well-to-do; so that the young colony was rich in quality as well as strong in numbers. Nearly all branches of the Protestant religion were represented. The Friends settled mainly it Philadelphia or its immediate neighbor bood. The Germans, equally peace able and on good terms with the Indi ans, moved westward to the agriculture al district and occupied also the Schuyl kill and Lehigh valleys; while the more aggressive Scotch-Irish pushed onward to the Susquehanna and Cumberland valleys and became the piones outposts. They opposed Quaker rule nainly because they believed in fight ing the Indians; but they were strong religionists in their own way, intelligent and well educated. It is said of them that they became the school

Although the Assembly was controll ed by Friends, they could not really govern as they wished because of the veto power possessed by the governor, who represented the proprietor, and because of the further restraints laid upon them by the crown. The three agencies of government were frequently at a deadlock. Within their own narrowing circle, the Friends govern ed well: outside of it, they scarcely governed at all. At length, the Friends were obliged to abandon either their principles or their offices They chose the latter course. Many members of the Assembly resigned or efused re-election. It May Be Strengthened by Wearin All who suffer from poor digestion should wear a ten inch width of flannel bandage next the skin, pinned fair ly tight round the body over the stomach. No liver or digestive pill or pep sin preparation helps the stomach s twentieth part as much as his flannel prescription. A poor eleculation in the stomach, causing that chilip, "misera ble" feeling, is at the root of half the indigestion that morials are heir to. That is why hot water drinking gives relief. It helps the circulation. A flannel bandage worn day and night all the year round cures the faulty blood circulation of the stomach; consequently l cures dyspepsia. Five hours' intervabetween meak, avoiding fried foods, made dishes and mixtures and observ ing three or four "Lenten meals" in every week are golden rules for good digestion. A good dinner at night is necessary for those whose pleasure or work keeps them up very late, but for ordinary folk who dine at 7 and go to bed about 10:30 only a light, whole some repast should be taken at the end of the day, when the muscles and nerves are more or less exhausted. A "tired stomach is a weak stomach" is a golden rule to remember, yet how often ne hears people say: "I've been rushing about all day and am tired to death. I must have a big meal to make up for it." You may put the big meal into the stomach, but you cannot make the stomach digest it .-Exchange.

BIT OF FRENCH HISTORY. Empire Lost For Want of the Right Sort of Hiding Habit. An old legend which makes no pretense to truth tells how a kingdom was lost for want of a horseshoe nail. But a volume of sober historical and biographical purpose, written by Count d Herrison, makes it appear that the Empress Eugenie, after the battle of Sedan, lost the chance to preserve the empire of her husband by not possessing exactly the right sort of riding habit. It was the evening of Sept. 8

The news of the surrender of the French army and of the Emperor Naoleon at Sedan had spread about Paris. The city was excited, and there was 'ilk of a revolution and the banishment of the imperial family. At this juncture Emile de Girardin, a man who was trusted by the empress and who had had no little experience during the previous changes of government, arrived at the palace of the Tui lerles. "If your majesty were to appear on horseback in the midst of the peo-ple," Girardin said, "and amounce the abdication of the emperor in favor of prince imperial, your own assum the appointment of Thiers as prime minister, the empire might be saved. Something must be done to turn the

The empress accepted the advice. But when this leader of the world's fashion sought for a proper costume for he performance it could not be found. The only riding habit in the Tuilertes was a fantastic one of green, embroid-ered with gold and silver, made for a festal hunting occasion, and the ba was a not less fantastic three cornered affair of the epoch of Louis Quinze. The empress felt that it would not do to appear in this garb on such an occa plan had to be given up, the empres onveited, Cunning and Intelligent and Without Fear. The fisher marten deserves to be much better known than he generally is, if only on account of his own good opinion of himself, his wonderful cunning and shrewd intelligence.

One of the largest and handsomes of the martens, he has also agility, strength and endurance for any two of his kind put together. Measuring about three feet in length, with a slim, vigorous body, the fisher will travel normous distances in a single night, bounding lightly up into the air, with his nose turned up in order to catch every whiff of scent, outwitting other animals and the cleverest trappers and making himself at home wherever he happens to find himself.

He generally chooses as his hunting grounds the thickly covered hills and ridges where the hemlock and spruce grow in abundance, but he is as much at home on the tree tops as on the ground and can sleep as soundly in a low hollow of a tree as on a branch of a fir tree, where he will lie stretched out in the sunshine like any old cat. As for fear, he does not know what it is. He will not only face but ac tually kill a Canadian porcupine and does not even appear to mind the quills which penetrate his body. He s not particularly fond of meeting old bear with cubs, but is generally ciever enough to steal her cubs while the goes off on some little expedition of her own, while instances have been related of the fishers in the Rocky nountains even killing young grizzlies As for man, he appears to laugh a him and his designs for trapping wild animais. He will pull a marten trap open and take out the bait, whether nlive or dead; be will tear a pine ma ten or mink to pieces in no time and carry it off or drag the trap over som rough projection in order to spring it and make off more often than no without having received as much as a eratch.

But perhaps his cleverest trick, when he finds a trapper is following his trail, is to get behind the trapper and follow his, so that while the unco scious trapper is walking after the fisher the fisher is keeping completel out of danger by following the trapper. Many a uscless mile has th trapper walked in this manner, and many good balts has he lost by the very same shrewd, cunning animal he is trying to trace and catch.-Collier's

A Lucky Game of Chess

A story is told of the Moorish prince Abul Hejex, who was thrown prison for sedition by his brother Mo hammed, king of Granada. There he remained for several years until the king, fearing he might escape, placed and seized the crown, ordering one of his pashas to see to his immediate execution. Abul Hejex was playing at chess prepare for death. The prince asked for two hours' respite, which was re fused. After earnest entreaty he obtained permission to finish his game He was in no hurry about the moves, not, for before an hour had elapsed t pessenger brought the news that Mo hammed had been struck dead by apo-plexy, and Abul was forthwith pro-

One of cash premium is charged to cover curthe strong features with this show is the street parade and this should be is furnished at sotual cost and large seen by all whether they intend to attend the performance or not. Mr. Main rightly believes that a circus can be best judged by its circus paraphertigation of every one desiring to lower nalia and horses and that is why he throws himself open to criticism in the early hours of the day of exhibition. This grand street pageant is over a mile in length and in its many constant changes is decidedly kale:doscopic Eight bands of music, steam organs, chimes, bag-pipes, jubilee singers and drum corps furnish the music for the long line of new parade features. Over five hundred thoroughbred horses, hundreds of lady and gentlemen riders, scores of open cages, gentlemen riders, scores of open cages, allegorical and historical floats and tableau wagons, soldiers of the world, wild west contingent, congress of all nations' funny clowns and large herds of elephants, camels, zebras, ostriches and buffalc pas in rapid review. It is certainly a sight of a life-time. An other pleasing departure is the g and free display of daylight fireworks which is given on the grounds immedately after the return of the parade. This is something new and novel and c v ry interesting exhibition.

THE PROGRAMME FOLLOWS:

1st—A sham battle between the lone Scout and a band of Indians. The Scout's pory lies down and is used as a breastwork. The Scout fights and kills the Indians. A fine scene of horsemanship, fighting and general skill.

2nd—Cowboy race, a quarter mile dash which is very exciting.

3rd—Picking up objects from the ground while at full racing speed. Large half-breed horses are used in this act; at d it is done with life and vim. Also funny Cowboy and burro.

and burro.

-Roping, or lasso throwing; eatching a horse by the neck, catching a rider, catching a horse by the leg while at full speed, throwing the rope thirty or forty feet away, and using the rope in many different styles.

-Riding wild and bucking Bronchos; this is truly an exciting scene. Our ponies are very vicious, and are kept in good condition for that purpose. Cowboys' fun on the plains. Pony Express, showing how despatches were carried across the continent before telegraph was used; quick changes. Also the burlesque with Mexican burros, —Revolver handling, showing many remarkable points in handling the large Navy revolver in time of close quarters and danger. The quickest in the world by Broncho John.

Broncho John.

8 b—Showing what is done with a horse thief; capture, dragging and harging to tree.

9 th—All aboard for Deadwood. The Old Overland Coach; four half breed horses with life and pred, the old time driver with his four-in-hand—whop goes the whip and they are off—Boad Agents command "hold-up," a run for life past the grand stand. Cowboys to the rescue. A running fight and capture.

The most interesting exhibition ever witnessed on any Fair Ground. The chase and hold-up of the Overland Stage will be a feature of intense excitement.

DON'T MISSIT! It's all free on the track each day at the Fair.

SEPTEMBER IS ${f HERE}$

HE nights are cool and the crisp air delightful. With this first Fall Month business crosses a trade line. To anticipate what people want in Clothing is almost a science. Anybody with money can fill a store with goods; but it takes the right kind of goods to fill it with people. Our stock this season is the best that this store ever had, not alone in quality but in price also. Better goods than we sell aren't made for the money, higher grades of goods can't be got anywhere in this part of the state. Talk is cheap. Other stores make big statements about their goods and low prices, but when you go to buy their goods their tone is different. We give you just what we advertise, and well you know it, if you are a customer of ours. If you are not a customer of ours you will be if you let us prove it to you. We are now beginning this season's business by offering to the trade such bargains that no one else but ourselves can give. So don't be making a mistake and trade elsewhere. Come here and see how big a bargain you can get.
